

10 Ways to Participate in National Penicillin Allergy Day

National Penicillin Allergy Day can foster opportunities to promote awareness of penicillin allergy within the healthcare setting and community. Below are examples of activities you can participate in and/or host.

- 1 Post #NPAD19 social media messages.
- 2 Distribute educational materials to patients and referring physicians: Conveniently download or simply request free prints of posters and brochures.
- 3 Use infographics from CDC on your website or social media.
- 4 Offer onsite penicillin allergy assessment and/or testing to employees and patients claiming an allergy to penicillin.
- 5 Issue a press release to highlight your participation and specialty by customizing the available NPAD press release template.
- 6 Deliver penicillin allergy awareness presentations through your medical facility and/or community.
- 7 Assess your patient population for the prevalence of penicillin allergy.
- 8 Share information with your facility, state and regional medical and pharmacy boards through email or newsletters.
- 9 Listen to and participate in online penicillin allergy education.
- 10 Add a NPAD Web Button to your website to let patients and providers know you support the campaign.

For more information, visit nationalpenicillinallergyday.com